Chairman defends Home's reputation

Staff and management of Hyland Crest are now responding to the insinuations of mistreatment of the residents.

Fred Gardner, who chairs the Hyland Crest Committee of Management, issued a press release Friday in response to statements that were reportedly made by a group of residents and volunteers at the home. The press release rebuts the contention that the use of restraints has been reintroduced at the home. It also addresses the implication of abuse and the problems with labour relations.

"Hyland Crest's practices with respect to the use of restraints have not changed," said Gardner. "Our practice is, and has been for some time, one of least restraints. Restraints are used when a written order is given by a physician and incorporated into the resident's care plan. In an emergency situation, a Registered Nurse may obtain verbal permission from a doctor. A written order is then obtained when available."

Gardner said any allegations of abuse of residents is taken "extremely seriously" at Hyland Crest. "If any person has any knowledge of specific instances of suspected abuse, I urge him or her to contact our Administrator, Gary McKnight. I am confident that he will deal appropriately and completely with any such concerns. However, to do so he must be provided with specific information."

In regard to labour relations, Gardner admits there is a need for more attention. However, he also notes that council is already working on the situation.

"Council has hired a Human Resources Manager, and with her assistance senior staff at the county have been developing a fair and effective strategy for dealing appropriately with our employees and managing our operations." He said council has given full support to these strategies and he believes progress is being made.

A long, hot Yard

Well over 200 runners and walkers broke from the starting line to pound the pavement between Camp Onondaga and the Rockcliffe Hotel last Friday.

The occasion was the annual Highland Yard, presented by Beck's Beer. The competitors paced the 7.4 kilometre distance along Deep Bay Road.

Proceeds from the race go to the AMICI Camping Charity.

Angry angler opposes trout options

by Jerry Grozelle

Proposed changes to the lake trout and brook trout management strategy has a former Ministry of Natural Resources employee seeing red.

"The new management proposals for lake trout in the Minden area should be totally rejected by local anglers," says Aubrey Gostling, a retired conservation officer, fisheries management officer and enforcement specialist.

Gostlin, an avid trout fisherman, agrees lake trout populations have declined. He also acknowledges that some changes are in order. However, he is not impressed with some of the ministry's options.

"The options outlined by the ministry, with the exception of total winter/early spring closure, would virtually eliminate the legal trout fishery in this area," he says.

"Anyone in the Minden area in his right mind is going to passionately oppose winter closing."

Gostlin said the information package and questionnaire distributed by the ministry for public comment are "a brain-washing exercise", or an attempt to get anglers to accept less fish stocking and slot size limits.

Gostlin has fished lake trout in the Minden and Haliburton area for 45 years and also spent a number of those years as a conservation officer checking hundreds of trout anglers. If fishermen measured the lake trout they caught in open water, the majority would fall within the slot size restrictions and have to be released. That would effectively eliminate the open water fishery, he speculated.

"If they ban bait-fish in the winter, along with the proposed slot size limits, which would have to be done, they would

Health board shuts doors on public

The Health Services Board held a marathon closed session last Tuesday to select a new board member, debate acute care services and discuss the hiring of a manager.

The meeting began at 7:30 p.m. at the Haliburton Legion. After 15 minutes of open discussion, the public was asked to leave. More than two hours later, the doors were again opened in order to present a five-minute summary of activities.

The board has agreed to accept Bev MacDuff as the newest board member. MacDuff, who is also the Reeve of Glamorgan township, fills a vacancy on the east side of the county.

The board has also agreed to have two of its members work with representatives from the Ministry of Health and the District Health Council to develop a job description for an administrator.

The board also considered doing a preliminary site inspection of the proposed locations for a new hospital. However, members decided to put this on hold until an administrator is hired.

The issue of acute care beds was discussed but no decisions were made.

Eight people turned out to the meeting, only to be left sitting in the lobby. Most left long before the meeting ended.

Minden Council Notes

Riverbank facelift

The following items were addressed at the July 28 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council

Dave Stevens, owner of Beaverbrook Golf Course, attended Minden Council Thursday requesting trimming and brushing along the Gull River from a point opposite Campbell's Flower Shop to the bridge that provides access to the golf course.

He asked that the municipality cut the underbrush and limb the trees so people can see the river along that stretch.

When council broke for lunch, the area was inspected and it was agreed that it would be more aesthetically pleasing if the work was done. Council passed a resolution to authorize the limbing of trees, cutting of grass and brushing along the river in the area suggested.

While they were on site, township staff members retrieved a picnic table from the river. The table had been chained at Rotary Park but vandals were able to unfasten it and toss it into the river.

Reeve Bern Berry said that he checked and an average of about 12 picnic tables a year are retrieved from the river.

While Stevens was at the council meeting he asked Public Works Superintendent Clayton Cameron if roadside grass cutting operations could be started sooner. Cameron explained that if the grass was cut earlier it would just grow up again, defeating the purpose.

The municipality has neither the staff nor the funds to keep roadside grass cut on an ongoing basis.

Pool Water

Council has turned off the tap to those who would use the municipal water supply to fill their swimming pools. A resolution restricting the use of municipal staff and equipment for the filling of swimming pools from the municipal water supply was endorsed.

Berry said that he didn't want to see the municipality in competition with people in the area who derive part of their income by providing tanker services for that purpose.

Write-offs

A resolution was passed by council to write off a total of $14,588.30 in taxes.

Snowmobiling

Responding to a request from the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, council agreed to proclaim the week of November 21 to 27 Snowmobiling Week.

Project Purple

The invasion of the European plant purple loosestrife in Ontario's wetlands has been a much publicized problem for the past few years. The plant invades wetlands, choking out native species, making those wetlands virtually uninhabitable to many wild-life species.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters has asked councils across the province to declare the week of August 1 to 8 Project Purple Week.

An information package outlining what can be done at the community level to help curb the spread of this plant was provided by the OFAH.

"I don't know if the public is capable of controlling purple loosestrife," Berry said. "It's kind of scary to think that if you don't do it right, you can spread the seeds."

Berry questioned what the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ministry of Environment are doing when the plant can be purchased at some garden centres.

Council decided to get some input from the MNR and MOE to determine the extent of the problem.

It was also decided to invite officials from the OFAH to the next council meeting to discuss the purple loosestrife situation. The OFAH confirmed Friday that the officials will attend the August 11 meeting at 8:15 p.m.

Trout Management

The issue of the MNR's proposed changes to brook trout and lake trout management strategy for south central Ontario was discussed at length.

Although the MNR placed ads in the local newspapers, Berry said: "I wasn't aware there was going to be a meeting, even though it was in our own community."

Berry wasn't alone when it came to advance knowledge of the open house meeting. He said he received numerous calls about it after the fact.

Referring to the proposal prepared by the MNR, Berry pointed out some contradictions.

"I don't think this is an exact science," he said. "I think they're guessing in a lot of cases. I would like them to take a really close look at this before they implement any of this."

A SIGN FROM THE PAST. Barb LeBlanc and Sarah MacDougall stand beside the sign that was discovered missing when the Minden Museum committee moved the Hindon Hill School House to the museum site. Relatives of Bill Branson, who had donated the schoolhouse to the museum had taken the sign. His son, Daniel, and fiancée, Alessia, visited the school before it was moved, and noticed the sign had fallen and was broken. Daniel removed the sign and repaired it as a surprise for his father. The sign, all in one piece, was returned after they realized the museum had been looking for it.

Berry said he felt the ministry hadn't given enough weight to the economic impact of the proposals. In this area, the tourist industry depends on drawing as many people as possible and he feels that the proposals will have a negative impact that would send the already fragile economy reeling into a major relapse.

"They seem to have rejected anything that involves administration," Berry said. "They say it is too costly. Well, these proposals will be too costly for this area."

"I know the public out there is muttering something fierce," Berry said. "As public guardians, we need to address this issue."

Councillor Gerry Rome pointed out that ads with (provincial) government logos are seldom read by the majority of newspaper readers.

Councillor Jeanne Anthon said she thought "a tremendous amount of research" had already gone into the proposals, but she stopped short of endorsing the proposals as they were presented.

Anthon suggested that the real problem was the way the open house meetings were advertised.

Rome suggested that council request another, "well advertised", public meeting.

A resolution to that effect was passed.

Putting Haliburton on the map

Bioregional atlas turns the corner

A small group of people attended a meeting at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden on Thursday night to give some input on a project aimed at producing a bioregional atlas of the Haliburton Highlands area.

One definition of bioregionalism states: "Bioregional thought establishes that all human activity within an area should be as aware of the natural restrictions and qualities of the region as the non-human inhabitants."

The term is subject to interpretation, however.

Anna Gibson is one of several Trent University students involved in the project. She called the meeting to get some ideas from local people regarding what they would like to see in the way of mapping. She presented a diverse list of 26 possibilities for maps and asked for other suggestions.

Among the suggested maps that local people might be interested in are those which would identify major sources of pollution and the path those pollutants travel through the environment; historic and current political divisions; a history of the uses of the area waterways; distribution, sources and disposition of wealth; emergency and public services; a depiction of the historical use of forests or changes that have occurred in forestry; an overview of land ownership (Crown or private); native land claims and land use; agricultural — what will grow where, for example; location and significance of wetlands.... The possibilities are virtually unlimited. Once a comprehensive list of possible maps has been compiled, a panel of local people will decide which of the proposed maps to include and which to reject.

Tom Ballantine suggested instead of producing an atlas in the form of a book, that the maps could be individually packed in sleeves. He further suggested that they be produced on clear acetate so they could be overlaid on the base map (in layers if desired) for comparison purposes. In that form, the maps could be used to compare such things as population densities to transportation or types and quantities of pollutants, for example.

Gibson is hoping to form a committee of people from the Highlands to get some direction as to the preferred content of the maps. She has been interviewing people individually but she said the purpose of getting people together in a group is to encourage the flow of ideas through interaction.

"I don't want people to think that by coming out to a meeting it is a five-year commitment," Gibson stressed. "I just want some ideas."

A watershed map of the Haliburton-Peterborough bioregion would serve as the larger base map. The smaller Haliburton area, which will be one of five or six microregions, is the subject of the atlas. It is the pilot project for the larger area.

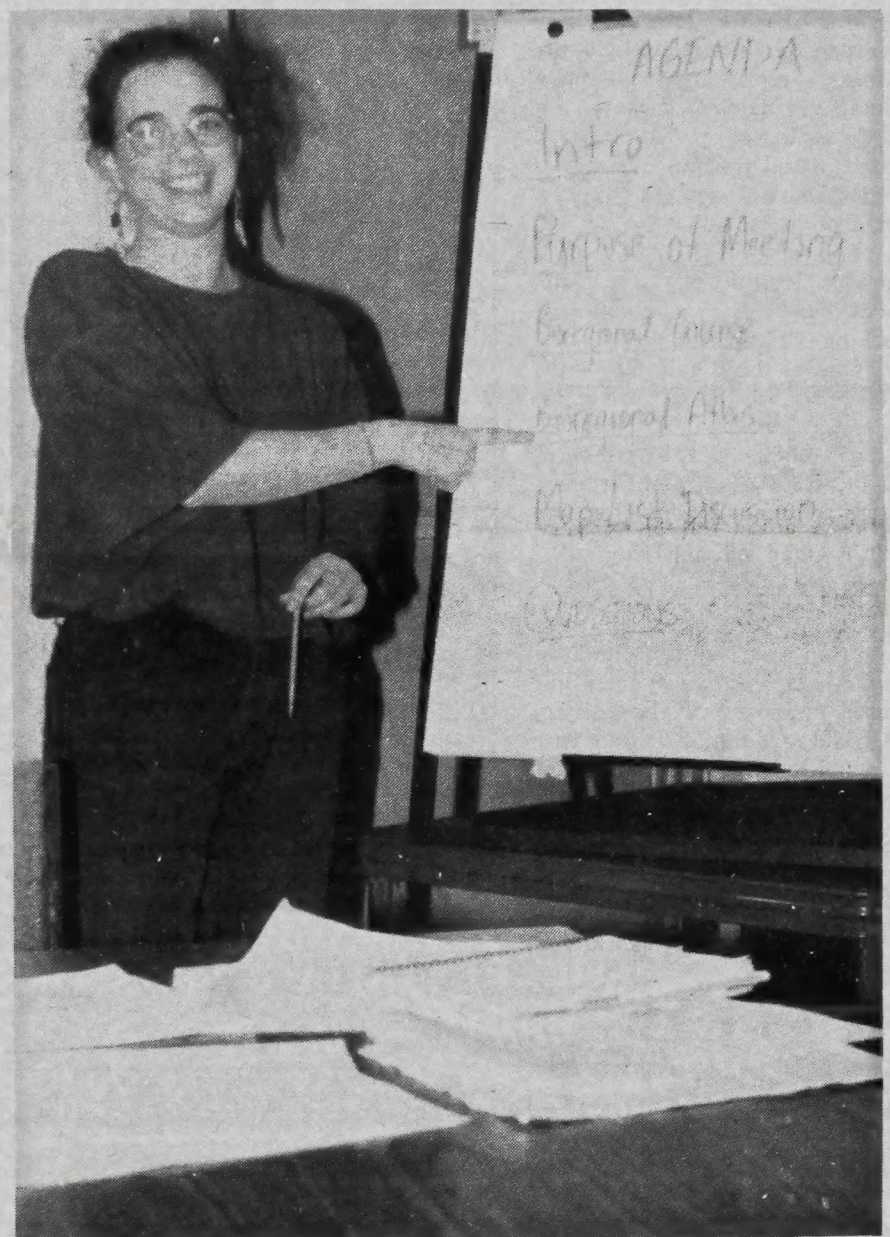

Gibson has put together a comprehensive report on the overview of the atlas project. She will be preparing a budget and submitting an application to the IVY Foundation for funding. The foundation provides funds for environmental and educational projects. She hopes to have the budget completed by September.

"We are hopeful that we can get a very large sum of money so we can get this project done," Gibson said.

The mapping project will be a co-operative effort of Trent University bioregionalism students and of the Sir Sandford Fleming College cartography students.

The stated objectives of the 10-year project, which is currently in its fifth year are:

- * To explore bioregional theory and how it can be applied to communities and community research.
- * To produce a volume of information on Haliburton County.
- * To provide students a context in which to research and express ideas.
- * To produce a bioregional atlas.
- * To make a contribution to the com-

Bioregional atlas: Trent University student Anna Gibson is asking for input from local residents regarding the contents of a bioregional atlas that is being produced by the university and students from the Sir Sandford Fleming college cartography course.

munity.

* To explore ways in which Trent University can serve Haliburton County.

The proposed atlas will be the culmination of 10 years' effort. The target date for publication of the atlas is 1999.

Gibson said that once the atlas has been produced, it will be available to the public, educational institutions, municipalities and virtually anyone who wishes to use one.

"We're not in this to make money," she said. "It will be available at cost."

There was also talk at Thursday's meeting of producing the atlas as computer software, on disk or CD ROM, which opens up some exciting possibilities for anyone with the computer technology to make use of the information that would be provided.

Anyone wishing to participate on the committee, or offer suggestions for map subjects, is welcome to attend a meeting at the Haliburton Highlands Museum on August 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Book 'em Grace

The new Norland Library is now officially open. The Opening ceremonies took place Saturday, with about 50 people in attendance.

The new library is in the Municipal Office building, which used to be the Norland Public School.

Pastor Ross Fogwell performed the dedication ceremony and Councillor Vernon LeCraw gave a historical background of the libraries in Norland since the first one opened in 1902. LeCraw also presented a dedication plaque acknowledging the contributions of the donors who helped make the new facility a reality.

Visiting dignitaries included Provincial Liberal candidate Sharon McCrae, Victoria County Warden Ken Logan and County Library representatives Janet Booth and Valerie Garland.

Branch supervisor Grace Graham and assistant supervisor Julie Graham were on hand for the festivities.

The new facility boasts a good selection of large print books as well as a number of talking books.

One of the highlights of the Norland Library is a new computer system that is available for use by members. The system includes a CD ROM, which has a cross-referenced index of all the books that are available for loan to the Norland outlet.

"Now that we have the (computer) hardware, the possibilities are limitless," said Councillor Lynn Peel, who is also one of the three members of the Library Advisory Committee, along with Councillor LeCraw and Marian Pearson.

Librarian Grace Graham was busy last week preparing for Saturday's opening of the new Norland Library. The library is situated in the municipal building (formerly the Norland school) on Highway 503.

Anglers press for time to consider fisheries options virtually eliminate the winter fishery as well," he says.

"Due to a number of factors, Minden area lakes have not, and will not, produce any numbers of large lake trout," Gostlin said.

"I'm sure that the majority of people in the Minden area are like me and love to go out and catch a nice fresh lake trout to eat, not jerk it around for 15 minutes on a line and then let it go so it can go away and die on the bottom of the lake from stress and exhaustion," he explained. "If the ministry is serious about doing something for the lake trout and the fishermen of this province, let's go back to the drawing board. There are lots of other options they haven't proposed. For example, shorten the winter season, not total closure; have a shorter summer season; ban live bait in the winter; or prohibit the use of more than one line through the ice."

Prohibiting the use of ice huts would also reduce the take of lake trout, said Gostlin.

"I enjoy fishing from a nice warm hut in the winter as much anybody else, but giving up this comfort is a far better option than any of the ones now proposed by the MNR," he said. "I don't think any of the ministry's proposals are viable options."

The ministry proposal to open rainbow trout and splake seasons year round, he says, "is a smoke screen" because the rainbow season is already open all year in division 15, which encompasses all of Haliburton County. He adds that year-round fishing isn't possible since the lakes aren't safe to go on until January.

"People just aren't geared to fishing in the fall," he adds.

Gostlin says that the vast majority of the people who are making the decisions are not anglers.

"They say they are making their decisions based on scientific data," he said. "But there probably is no scientific data on such things as the effects of ice huts on the fishery."

"The thing that really annoys me is we're being soaked to death with licences and there's virtually nothing going into the resource."

In conclusion, Gostlin warns: "Let's not be like typical Canadians and roll over and play dead. Make your views known to your local MNR and politicians."

He stressed that the deadline for submitting comments is August 10.

Stan Flemming of ministry office in Minden advised that the ministry has extended the deadline for submission of comments to September 23.

He said that bait dealers, licence issuers and officials of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association, among others, are being notified of the extension.

Fleming said another open house meeting is not being considered because the extended deadline gave people plenty of opportunity to respond. Questionnaires are available at the ministry office.

Contract signed for trails strategy

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has announced that the contract for the development of the Trails and Tours Strategy has been awarded to the consulting team of Marshall, Macklin, Monaghan, NordicGroup International, Haliburton Associates and Chrismar Mapping Services Inc.

The Trails and Tours committee of the Chamber reviewed a wide selection of proposals before choosing this consulting group. The selected team brings together a unique blend of international experience in the development of trails and tourism strategies, long time commitment to and involvement in the Haliburton Highlands and proven national success in mapping and marketing.

Over the next six months they will be touring the county, doing an inventory of resources, holding public meetings and seeking input from as many groups and individuals as possible. They are looking forward to an exciting new approach to the promotion and development of Haliburton County.

Haliburton's acting Health Services Board has stepped onto some shaky ground with last Tuesday's lengthy closed-door session at the Haliburton Legion.

Faced with some highly-controversial and divisive issues, it is understandable that members want some time to privately air concerns and vent their frustrations at a process that seems to be repeating itself. However, they must also realize there's a skeptical public with a vested interest in the outcome of this board's deliberations.

We don't begrudge the board Tuesday's session. Some, if not all, of the issues addressed at this meeting belonged behind closed doors. Discussions surrounding the selection of a new board member, for example, do not belong in the public domain. Besides, the majority of members are new to this process and need some time to state their opinions without the fear of reprisal from the community at large. It is important for this board to put forth a positive and united front in order to calm a nervous public. If members need some time in private to reach some common ground, so be it.

On the other hand, we're concerned that Tuesday's session could become a trend. Even a hint of secrecy in such a controversial issue could cause irreparable damage to the board's credibility.

In order for any initiatives to fly, the board needs strong support from the community. Regardless of where a hospital is located, there will be a need for fundraising, which will require public confidence and enthusiasm. For this reason alone, it is vital that the board has the community's trust.

It's a fine line that the board must walk. Let's hope it's up to the challenge.

Good Choice

On a related note, we'd like to congratulate the board on its choice of a new member. Bev MacDuff has proven to be a thorough and fair-minded member of county council for the past three years. We're confident she will be an excellent addition to the Health Services Board.

Staff refutes allegations of abuse

Editor,

The recent articles to appear in area newspapers regarding allegations of so-called abuse and mistreatment of residents of Hyland Crest Nursing Home concern me and my fellow staff members deeply.

As a long-term staff member of the Home, I, like most other staff members, have developed a deep affection for the residents in our care and consider any possibility of their abuse or mistreatment absolutely deplorable. It is also a matter that is taken very seriously by the administration of the Home, the county council and the Ministry of Health which regulates the operation of Homes for the Aged.

In fact, there are very strict guidelines and procedures which must be followed when allegations of resident abuse arise.

This includes a full investigation of the allegations which must be reported to, among other agencies, the Ministry of Health. The ministry will then conduct a thorough and independent investigation and if the allegations are substantiated, immediate action is taken. This process will assure the safety of the residents, which obviously is the most important concern. However, the process also protects the administration and staff against having their reputations damaged through unsubstantiated allegations. Unfortunately, unsubstantiated allegations have been published and have created a great deal of concern among residents, their families and the staff.

I can also tell you that the last two years at the Home have been very difficult for the staff. Management has been pitted against management, staff against staff and management against staff.

Unfortunately, now, even the residents have been pulled in. Perhaps this is the best illustration of the problems in the Home during the past two years.

We are here only because of the residents and we should all remember that. It is absolutely unforgivable that the residents have become pawns in this struggle. Instead of pulling the residents into conflicts, we should all be working together to look after their best interests.

It is also inexcusable that the reputations of hard working and conscientious staff members and management of the Home have been damaged with allegations that have neither been investigated nor substantiated.

It is a very sad day for our community.

Public consultation should be extended into ice fishing season

Editor,

I have several concerns regarding the Ministry of Natural Resources proposals for further trout management changes.

The deadline for public consultation is August 10. This is unrealistic and unacceptable. The public is barely aware of the big changes the ministry is proposing. Regardless of how long this internal study has been ongoing, it is a mistake and disservice to rush the public consultation phase.

Furthermore, the Minden area is effectively hidden in their description of the affected areas: "South Central Ontario includes the entire Bancroft District, Pembroke District, the Kawagama Lake area . . ." How many anglers or even residents are aware that the Minden/Haliburton area is lumped in with the Bancroft District? I believe this is a relatively recent change that still escapes the common public perception.

No wonder open house turnout was poor.

The majority of the winter fishing public (most affected by the ministry's proposals) can not be adequately reached unless this unrealistic deadline is extended, ideally into the coming winter season.

The questionnaire contained in the ministry's information package (get yours from the ministry's Minden office) is sadly lacking in options. Most fishermen, myself included, have no big qualms with minimum sized or slot limit restrictions. In fact, we wonder what took the ministry so long. The problem is the severely restrictive notion of banning live bait for ice fishermen. The elimination of minnows for the winter angler is too drastic a measure, hurting both the angler and the business community. This will result in a negative backlash toward the ministry's otherwise good efforts.

Have the economic consequences been considered? Hut operators (I am one), bait dealers, resorts, lodges, motels, restaurants and stores will all take a financial hit. Why? because this area competes with other lake trout areas such as Temagami and Lake Simcoe in drawing winter anglers with their tourism dollars. I conservatively estimate Haliburton County alone has benefitted from more than $500,000 in the past 10 years from ice fishermen travelling from outside the community.

Instead of banning live bait, I suggest these alternatives:

1. Ban the use of barbed hooks (in favour of barbless) and limit live bait to minnows (no herring or smelt).

When using minnows, adopt an "ice fishing spreads only" policy. The use of one two-way or three-way spreader only with no additional trailing or "loose hooks" allowed. Trout caught on spreaders rarely take hooks deep in their mouths.

Adopting these simple measures will largely avoid the mortality concern of released fish and not discourage the flow of fishing dollars in our community.

The present trend has Ontario fishermen paying more and more for less and less. When will this end? The ministry is attempting to manage our resources efficiently, but must also deal with the challenge of dealing with the public effectively. I ask the public to let the ministry know how they feel.

Opposition convinces ministry to abandon spray

Editor,

Last week I received a telephone call from Lee Authier, district engineer for the Ministry of Transportation, informing me that the intended spraying of our county highways would not take place. The reason cited for this decision was the volume of residents expressing their concerns and objecting to this procedure.

Congratulations and kudos to all those who have aptly demonstrated that by acting according to one's convictions and rapidly, reasonably and conscientiously participating in local problem-solving, the will of the people can indeed prevail. Thanks also to MPP Chris Hodgson whose conversation with the Minister of Transportation was undoubtedly helpful. This type of collaborative effort is a very worthwhile and satisfying example of democratic process in action, right here in Haliburton County.

The next phase consists of working with the ministry to develop a viable, acceptable alternative to ensure roadside safety, while preserving our region's natural attractiveness and ecological balance. The Adopt-A-Highway program, combined with initiation of an integrated weed management system appears to be an ethically conscious, effective, relatively benign, cost-efficient and community-oriented option, worthy of immediate consideration. Similar resolutions have proven to be successful in other areas, throughout Canada and the U.S.A. where native plant species are encouraged for aesthetic, environmental and practical purposes. Mr. Authier, along with everyone else involved in this commendable decision/policy reversal earn a well-deserved nod of thanks and a hearty handshake. They have acknowledged the public voice and responded in a sensitive, sensible and responsible fashion.

Inquiries as well as further suggestions are welcome by Gordon Smith, 489-2763, Eric Lilius, 754-2255, or Virginia Muenzel, 754-2181.

Chicle trees: the root of teachers' frustrations

"We condemn . . . the rubbery abomination. It will exhaust the salivary glands and cause the intestines to stick together."

Anonymous doctor, 1869

"Hey Joe . . . you got chewing gum?"

Anonymous Korean POW, 1951

Good old gum. Our gift to civilization. And we didn't even invent it.

That honour must go to the Indians of Mexico who for long generations were in the habit of gathering gum from the chicle tree and tucking it in their mouths to keep their throats moist during overland treks.

An American photographer by the name of Thomas Adams discovered the glob during a trip to Mexico in the mid-nineteenth century. He brought a mess of it back to the United States and spent several months trying unsuccessfully to render it into commercial rubber. One day in a state of frustrated absent-mindedness, he stuck a dab of the goo in his mouth and started chewing it — just as Mexicans had been for several centuries.

Adams discovered he liked it.

He called up a businessman and tried to interest him in the idea of selling "chewing gum". The businessman looked at Adams as if he was out of his mind.

Undeterred, Thomas Adams started his very own chewing gum business. Before long he had a six-storey factory with 250 employees, all dedicated to the manufacture and distribution of chewing gum.

Adams was on his way to becoming a multi-millionaire. But he never forgot the origin of his personal Klondike — the humble Mexican chicle tree.

Which is why, nearly a hundred years later, we still buy Adams "Chiclets".

And not just Chiclets —

Dentyne, Wrigleys, Big Red, Beechnut, Excel, Trident, Chlorets and Dubble Bubble as well.

Humankind has been chewing gum (and expectorating unsightly blobs of it) all over the world since old Tom Adams first put it on the market in 1872. Who can estimate the uncountable tonnes of hardened chaw that has festooned the bottoms of theatre seats, classroom desks and restaurant tables from Manitowadge to Mandalay?

It has not been universally loved. A suspiciously puffy cheek would earn you six of the best from my Grade Six teacher Mr. Hewitt. In Singapore you can still go to jail for chewing gum in public.

But the very worst thing I know about chewing gum is that it has . . .

. . . become respectable.

A dental scientist by the name of Carl Kleber had developed a gum that contains minute abrasives that grind against the surface of your teeth as you chew.

Just like toothpaste.

Kleber actually had no shortage of guinea pigs to test his gum.

"You can get monkeys to chew gum," he says, "but only for a couple of minutes. After that they just take it out and stick it in their hair."

No such problem with the elementary school pupils who first tried Kleber's healthy chewing gum. They worked for free.

"What they really enjoyed was being able to chew gum in school," said Kleber.

Healthy gum. Chewing allowed in class.

Hewitt must be turning over in his grave.

Strickland honoured

Members of the Miskwabi Lake Area Cottagers' Association paid tribute to retiring President Jerry Strickland at the association's annual meeting held July 23. Jerry had served as president of the association since 1975 and has been instrumental in improving services, such as phone, hydro and roads to property owners in the area. Through his terms as president, he has also established links with the municipality of Dysart in an effort to improve communications between the seasonal residents and the local council. Jerry and his wife Monica were presented with a water colour painting of their cottage by area artist Gary Chapman. The presentation was made by Nancy Jackson and the new association president Philip Harknett. In his remarks, Strickland said the work he was credited with could not have been accomplished without the assistance of many other members of the association. He wished them well and reminded them he would be keeping an eye on their efforts. Strickland is stepping down as president for health reasons, but will be continuing to serve as executive director of the Federation of Ontario Cottager Associations (FOCA), a role for which he is widely known throughout the province.

Roaming dogs an irritation in cottage country

Editor,

In spite of the fact that By-law 91-8 for the control of dogs in the Township of Stanhope states that every owner of a dog who neglects to keep the dog leashed and under the control of some person when the dog is on land other than that of the owner is guilty of an offence and shall be liable upon conviction to a fine, it is a fact that a number of pet dogs are constantly running at large and the owners are allowing them to leave excrement behind on our property and in the beach area for us to clean up.

Public Health regulations prohibit domestic animals from swimming areas and from on or near beaches. As well, owners of pets should not have to be reminded to "stoop and scoop" when walking their animals.

Several weeks ago my sister arrived at the cottage, was unpacking and had left the car doors open. A neighbour's dog came running up from the lake, jumped in her car and shook sand, water, etc. all over the car seats and her clean clothes hanging in the back seat. As well, while I was walking this morning an unleashed dog came up to me out of the lake, growling then shaking water, etc. over me. These types of incidents would not happen if pet owners would heed the dog by-laws.

We are hoping that dog owners will remember there are not only adults but small children in the cottages and beach areas and treat others as they would wish to be treated.

Waterways Report

The following report from the Trent-Severn Waterway covers the week leading up to July 22.

The hot, humid weather continued this week though very little precipitation occurred until July 21 overnight. Water losses were noticeable off the lakes of the Trent-Severn until then, but a small increase in water levels was evident after the rains.

The reserve water in the Haliburton lakes declined at the seasonal rate to reach 86 per cent by Monday, July 18. This was about 4.7 per cent more than the average volume for that date and only a little less than in 1993.

Wetter weather is forecast the next few days so lake levels should continue somewhat higher than normal into the next week. Minimum supply conditions are not expected in the next several weeks.

Tenacity pays off: Bantam Royals are champs

by Jerry Grozelle

Tenacity has earned the Minden Handyman bantam A Royals the Victoria-Brock Baseball League championship.

The Royals have been down on a few occasions, but as coach Tom Ecclestone says: "They have never given up."

Winning four of five games over the weekend of July 23 and 24 in Beaverton, at the league tournament, proved the Minden boys were this year's best.

Two games on the Saturday of the tournament saw the Minden Handyman squad split. The first game was a 17-6 romp over Oakwood, a team that the Minden boys played twice during the regular season, winning one and losing the other.

Game two was against Haliburton, which was the only team to beat the Royals during the tournament. The final of that close encounter was 4-2 in favour of Haliburton.

The next morning the Royals were back in Beaverton to take on Fenelon Falls. That game was no contest as the Handyman crew cleaned up by a 15-1 score.

The victory over Fenelon Falls clinched a berth in the semi-finals as the top four teams advanced.

A draw was held to determine opponents for the semi-finals. Minden drew Lindsay, a team that won its first three games. The coin toss was in favour of Minden and the Royals had home field advantage.

Lindsay took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning but the Royals came back with five runs in the home half of the frame.

Steve Ecclestone, Jamie Henderson, Matt Cheeseman, Darren Mills and Corey Casey were the run scorers. Mills also picked up two RBIs while Cheeseman, Chris Neilson and Ashley Walker drove in one apiece.

Inning number two saw the Lindsay boys rebound to score five of their own to regain the lead. After holding the Royals at bay for the home half of the second, Lindsay added one more in the top of the third for a 7-5 advantage.

Ryan Anderson took over on the mound in the third and after giving up one run, he shut the opposition down for the next two frames.

Going into the home half of the fifth, (and final) inning, the Royals were still down 7-5.

Wayne Kernohan hit a single and went home on another single, by Dwight Bryant. Ecclestone followed with an RBI double to tie the game.

The climax of the contest turned out to be a pitcher's nightmare. With Ecclestone on base, the Lindsay hurler issued a walk to the next Minden batter. He hit the next Royal to step into the batter's box, giving him a free pass and loading the bases. Obviously rattled by the possibility of squandering a two-run lead and giving up the game, the Lindsay pitcher walked the next Minden batter, sending Ecclestone home with the winning run.

That win sent the Minden boys to the grand finale against the host Beaverton team.

These two teams had tangled just once during the regular season with Minden coming out on top.

Losing the coin toss this time, the Royals went to bat first. They were three up, and three down, with a fly ball and two strikeouts.

Beaverton came out with authority in the home half of the first, scoring four runs on six hits and a walk off starting pitcher Ryan Anderson. Beaverton left three men stranded when Minden got the third out.

"It looked kind of dismal," coach Ecclestone admitted.

But, like they did so many times before, the Minden boys shifted into comeback gear.

With one out in the top of the second, Anderson reached first when he was hit by a pitch. He stole second and third. Mills stepped up to the plate and hit a single to drive Anderson home. Mills stole second before Casey lashed a double sending him home. Walker was up next and he was issued a free pass, putting runners on first and second. Casey and Walker executed a double steal, advancing to third and second, respectively. A sacrifice fly by Neilson scored Casey and sent Walker to third. Sheamus Donnery hit a single to drive

Walker in and even the score at 4-4.

The next Minden batter struck out to retire the side.

Anderson gave up just one hit in the home half of the second and the runner was left stranded.

Ecclestone hit a single with one out in the top of the third. He stole second and third before Henderson stepped up and ripped an RBI double.

The next Minden batter was fanned, for the second out. Bryant was sent in as a pinch runner for Henderson and he promptly stole third and home. That ended the Minden scoring for the inning and after two and a half, the Royals led 6-4.

Anderson repeated his performance of the previous frame, facing four Beaverton batters, allowing no runs.

"At this point the game was really tense," coach Ecclestone said. "But the team remained focused."

Casey led off the top of the fourth with a single. Walker was up next and he watched four balls go by for another free pass. A sac fly from Neilson advanced the runners. Donnery earned two RBIs by hitting a double and Minden was in front by an 8-4 count. Kernohan followed with a double that drove Donnery in.

With two out, Bryant was sent in as a pinch runner a second time. But the plan backfired when he was caught stealing.

Neilson took over on the mound for the bottom of the fourth. Like his predecessor, he faced four and no runs were scored on him.

A five run mercy rule was in effect throughout the tournament so, leading 9-4, all Minden had to do was score one run in the top of the last (fifth) inning to win the championship.

It looked promising for the Royals with the top of the lineup poised for their turn at bat.

Henderson led off. He hit a grounder for the first out. Cheeseman followed. Another ground-out temporarily stopped the home team fans from chewing their nails.

Ryan Anderson promptly started the chewing again when he lambasted one down the first base line to the fence. A head-first slide into third stretched the hit to a triple.

Darren Mills followed Anderson to the plate. Over the course of the tournament, Mills' batting average had been less than impressive. With the count at three and two, Beaverton was one strike away from dodging the bullet, for another half inning at least. Everyone at the park was holding his or her breath as the Beaverton pitcher delivered the 3-2 pitch to Mills.

"He ripped a single right up the middle to win the hardware," coach Ecclestone recounted.

"The coaching staff, including myself, Greg Hurrell and Wayne Henderson, felt at the first of the season that we had a good team," Ecclestone said. "We are very proud of them."

Ecclestone offered his thanks on behalf of the Royals to The Minden Handyman for sponsoring the team.

Fun Day marks end of season for Minden Minor Baseball

Several hundred players, parents and fans were on hand for grand finale to another season of minor fastball in Minden on July 24. A day-long tournament was held at the ball park, featuring 16 action-packed games. In addition to the baseball, all players were treated to barbecued hot dogs, pop and ice cream. Debbie Ray (left) delivers a pitch during one of the end of season games for the Minden Minor Baseball League on Saturday, July 23. Each team in the league played two games, with hot dogs and soft drinks being served to those who weren't playing. Several draw prizes were also given out during the day's festivities. Some of the winners of draw prizes (below) are Mathew Harding, Orville Fischer, Joan Duhaime, David Stewart, Matthew Rolfe and Clayton Cameron.

Minden peewees capture division title in Coboconk

Royals overall runners-up in Championship Tournament

by Jerry Grozelle

The division championship and overall finalist honours were the Minden peewee B #2 team's rewards for its efforts at the season-ending tournament in Coboconk on July 23 and 24.

The Minden boys earned the division championship with three consecutive wins, two on the Saturday of the weekend tournament and one on Sunday, which advanced the team to the overall championship final.

Coboconk, the host team, was the first to fall to the Minden attack. When the dust settled at the end of the opening game, the Royals had seized an 11-8 victory.

Michael Hamilton and Paul Daniels shared the pitching duties.

Hamilton also led the team's offense with two hits. Robbie Solomon, Colin Mackenzie, Adam Bathe, Aaron Gibbons, Dru Adamson and Taylor Goodman contributed to the win with one hit apiece.

Next on the list was the Bobcaygeon squad, which put up a good scrap. Minden prevailed by a narrow 9-8 margin.

Colin Mackenzie and Paul Daniels combined for the win on the mound.

Offensively, the Royals were led by Hamilton and Solomon with two hits apiece. One of Hamilton's hits was a solo home run.

Mackenzie, Daniels, Bathe and Adamson chipped in with one hit each.

With that win, the Minden boys went home anticipating the division final the next day.

A 9-6 victory over Cameron in that game advanced the Minden boys to the overall tournament championship.

Hamilton was the starting pitcher for the Royals in the division final. He left the game with a sore pitching arm and Daniels, who has earned a reputation as the workhorse of the pitching staff, took over on the mound and closed out the game.

Bathe was the leading hitter for Minden in that game with two. Daniels, Jonathan Lynch, Gibbons and Mackenzie added one hit apiece to the winning tally.

With the division championship under their belts, the Royals secured a berth against Oakwood for the grand championship.

Oakwood is a good-hitting team and despite their best efforts, the Minden boys came up short, by an 11-7 count, in the World Series of local baseball.

Mackenzie pitched a strong first three innings for the Royals. Gibbons took over and Daniels finished out the game.

Oakwood's bats were too much for the Minden team.

Bathe, Gibbons and Brock Ladurantaye contributed two hits each to Minden's total, while Hamilton, Goodman and Adamson had one-hit games.

While he didn't have much luck at the plate in terms of hits over the four games, Trevor Cole chipped in with several run-producing walks as well as some good defense in the outfield.

Over the course of the tournament, Daniels, Gibbons, Goodman and Bathe all helped the Minden cause defensively by making some spectacular catches.

Solomon anchored the team with some solid work behind the plate throughout all four games.

The game ball from the division championship was presented to Paul Daniels in appreciation of his exemplary work on the mound over four games. That ball was signed by all of his teammates.

Although the team's coaches -- Brian Ladurantaye, Bob Valentine, Ed Gibbons and Andy Mackenzie -- were a little disappointed that the boys didn't bring home the overall title, they all agreed that they were extremely proud of the effort the Royals put forth and they thanked the boys for a job well done.

Sandi Cole was also singled out with special thanks for her dedication in keeping score for the team.

HHOA helps trout

Lake trout in Gull Lake will have their spawning beds rehabilitated by the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association on August 13. The association, in co-operation with the Ministry of Natural Resources will be placing clean rock rubble on the major spawning shoals.

Funding for the project will be provided through the Community Fisheries Involvement Program.

Lake trout generally spawn over loose rock rubble on windswept shorelines. Clean shoals with an abundance of rubble is crucial for the successful hatching of eggs and recruitment of lake trout into the fisheries. Each fall, eggs from lake trout are broadcast across the rock rubble of the shoals. The eggs settle amongst the spaces in the rubble and are protected from predation by other fish.

The shoals on Gull Lake are showing signs of excessive siltation. If the shoals become too silted, the eggs cannot settle into the protective spaces. That leaves them vulnerable to predation.

Oxygen is also essential for the survival and development of the eggs. When excessive siltation occurs, oxygen is used to break down the organic matter on the shoal, leaving less for developing eggs.

Gull Lake is a popular lake for lake trout fishing. It has a native trout population.

"Any rehabilitative efforts directed towards the fisheries can only benefit the native lake trout population," Said Conservation Officer Bob Gater.

Twinned colleges collaborate at Forest

The wilderness adventure is over and the students are going back to Ohio.

For the past three weeks students in the Natural Resources programs at Sir Sanford Fleming College and Hocking College, which is located in Nessonville, Ohio, were camping and receiving training on-site at various locations in the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve. The four intensive courses the students were working on will be credited towards their programs of study.

This is the first time the two colleges, which are twinned, were offered joint courses. Sir Sanford gave two courses, Big Game and Fur management, and Hocking held the other two, Introduction to Field Research Techniques and Field Ichthyology/ Fish Ecology. The students hope to come out of the two-year intensive program and become wildlife technicians which is an entry-level Fish and Wildlife position which includes wildlife surveys, angling and physical land management. From there some students will go into a Bachelors program to become wildlife biologists (the study of the habits and behaviours of wildlife, the management of hunting and fishing

Tom Puffinberger, 25, is in his third year at Hocking and said he thoroughly enjoys the program. "I basically grew up in the outdoors and I fished and trapped and I just wanted to make this my career. A couple of friends of mine attended Hocking College and said the program was great, and I just knew that was where I wanted to go," he said.

The students did not have a typical classroom, nine to five schedule. Every morning most of the students had to be up around six o'clock to check traps and other wildlife tests done around the camp. Breakfast is around eight o'clock, and if the students miss breakfast, they don't eat. A few hours after breakfast are spent napping or catching fish and swimming. The rest of the day is devoted to angling. The students have been busy with howling survey which cannot be started until after 8:30 p.m. simply because the animals do not come out before that time. Last Wednesday night, the students were up until three in the morning listening to the howls of the wildlife.

One student, the only one from Sir Sandford Fleming, came to Canada from Belize to take specialized training at Fleming's School of Natural Resources, through an Association of Canadian Community Colleges project. Albert Roches, 22, hopes to bring back knowledge and skills he can share with his company. Being in Canada has been a whole new experience.

"It's totally new. This is my first time out of the country, and I came to a great country. The people are great and friendly. In Belize I'm an environmental technician and we monitor the environment. We spoke with the manager of the Haliburton Forest and we discussed how we are facing the same problems back home as they are facing here. It's a good experience for me, because I can take back some of the knowledge I learned here in the past three weeks and apply it in Belize," said Roches.

Bill Peneston, Fish and Wildlife project co-ordinator and instructor at Hocking College, says his students have done a better job than he expected. "These kids here have collected in three weeks as much data as a typical MNR regional office would collect in an entire season. They have done a tremendous job. These kids are the cream of the crop. These students have a long way to go where their schooling is concerned, but as far as their heart and work ethic are concerned, nobody can beat them," said Peneston.

Even though the program was successful, they had their share of difficulties trying to keep operations going. Next year Peneston has asked the Haliburton Forest for more time to devote to the summer program. He also hopes more students from Sir Sandford will apply to next year's program.

The students said they learned a lot during their time at Haliburton Forest. They will be returning to their summer jobs, then back to school in September. When asked if they had a good time, they all agreed it was the best experience, and most informative summer they've ever had.

Bill Payne: The man behind the mike

- by Kelly Pettinger -

You have probably heard his voice at many Minden or Haliburton function. His deep, loud, bellowing voice can be heard for hundreds of yards when he steps behind the microphone to emcee an event. But who is the man behind the mike? It's none other than Bill Payne.

For over a decade, Payne has made room in his busy schedule to emcee almost every big event in Haliburton County. He doesn't hesitate when he is asked to emcee for the Sled Dog Derby, or even the Haliburton County Fair. Payne's first priority is making sure people have a great time, and if he is the one who can help make it happen, then he is a happy man.

Whether it be the youngest of children or the oldest of grandmothers, Payne will always give a warm hug, have something cheerful to say, and will most likely get a laugh out of them.

For about 10 years, Payne has been a part of the local band, Grandfathers Four. The band travels all over the county to play at special events or any seniors' home.

"We love going to the seniors' home and playing for them. They get so happy when we come and perform. And that makes us happy. It feels really good," said Payne.

Even though the band is named the Grandfathers Four, it really consists of six members. "Well, the original four are myself, Eldon Deacon, Don Burch, and George Smith, but sometimes we have Don White and Charlie Hadley, who is the real musician in the group. We call him the real musician because he's the one who really knows music and is the best at it. So sometimes there's six of us and other times there's only four," said Payne.

Born in 1928, Payne grew up, attended school and worked in Toronto. He and his girlfriend Jeanette married in 1950. "Jeanette was what we called a junction girl. We called her that because she lived in the west end of Toronto at Dundas and Keele Street where there was a railway type of a junction. I married a junction girl," he laughed.

Payne began working for Ontario Hydro in the Toronto area, and after about eight years there, he was transferred to Minden where his five children, Jackie, Phillip, Warren, Barbara, and Steven grew up. While he worked for Hydro, he started a business called Modern Electric, which he ran as he worked for Hydro. In 1964 Payne "picked up" his bus driver's license and his real estate license.

"Back in those days you got a restricted (real estate) license because we lived in such a small town that it was hard to make a living selling real estate alone, and pretty near anything else couldn't be done alone. You had to be a jack of all trades here," said Payne.

In 1969, Payne quit working at Hydro and concentrated on his electrical business. In 1979, Payne had a small, but serious, heart attack leaving him unable to meet the physical demands of his business. His son, Warren came from Guelph to work with him and son-in-law Wayne Fawcett, and together they operated the business, Modern Electric.

But the heart attack didn't stop Payne. Since he couldn't do physical work, he thought he might as well use his mind to sell real estate full time. He worked for two different real estate companies, and then received his broker's license. In 1983 he started yet another business, Bill Payne Real Estate, which has just recently merged with Bill Payne sifts through his large stack of paperwork and wonders if he will ever get it all done before the day is over.

Countrywide Real Estate.

When his children were younger, Payne decided Minden needed a Cub pack and served as cubmaster for many years. There was a Scout troop, which was sponsored by the Rotary Club, but the younger boys weren't able to join.

Payne, with the help of Rotary, helped start the Cubs in Minden. "My boys were right around that age, and I loved doing things with my children and other children. I stayed there for awhile, and I have watched them grow up and get married," said Payne.

Being around children has always been a joy for Payne. Being involved with the Cubs was only a small part of making sure children in the community were having a good time. He was also a part of the Minor Hockey League and helped start the Minor Hockey Association. He was on the recreation board and assisted with activities and the maintenance of the community centre.

"I did it for the kids. I love kids. I love my grandkids and they are getting older. My grandson beat me in golf the other day. That was a killer," said Payne.

Payne has been involved for many years with the Masonic Lodge and was the charter president of the Kinsmen K 40 club and helped start and served on the Winter Carnival committee. "When my wife reads this here she'll realize what I have been doing for all these years. Now she'll know why I come home late," laughs Payne.

In his meagre spare time Payne loves to play golf and billiards. He also loves woodworking. "I make a lot of things for my grandchildren. Each one of my granddaughters, when they turned five, received a doll house I made. They put their orders in for wooden articles to furnish the doll house and I make it for them," said Payne.

Making toys and dollhouses for his grandchildren isn't work for Payne. It's all just a part of being a family. "We have a very close family. We get together as often as we can and if there are any hardships in the family, we all rally around and help one another. Everybody is there when you need them the most. We just experienced that recently after my daughter passed away. It was a sad time, but we had each other and that's what counts," said Payne.

Dedication to family and his community are certainly the two elements which keep Bill Payne going.

"I just love people and Minden. I also love emceeing, and I really dread the day when I can't do it any more. There are those who say on my dying bed I will be emceeing something," said Payne.

Bluegrass: a weekend of great music

Impressive line-up of talent slated for this weekend

If you haven't received enough good old knee-slappin', foot stomping music this summer, then you might want to come on out and enjoy the music at the ninth annual Bluegrass Festival in Haliburton.

As in years before, the Festival promises a weekend of great music from all over North America, plenty of food and drink and fun for the whole family. It will be a night to sit back and relax and enjoy the music, or it may even be a night to get up and dance to the music of Virginia bands the Warrior River Boys and Lost and Found.

The North of Nine and Amanda McLean and Company will be on hand to get you out of your seat. Roadside Attraction, Norm Paul Bluegrass, Shoe, Acoustical Strings, Grassworks, Blue Mule and the Haldimand County Line will all be attending to make the Festival a success.

Throughout the weekend, there will be a talent show giving audience members the chance for their own minute of fame. Anybody from the audience can get up and play an instrument, dance, sing or showcase whatever talent you desire, and have a great time and possibly win some money at the same time. All of the prizes are cash and there are no age categories. Last year a five-year-old step dancer won first prize.

The Festival was first organized by Haliburton Legion member Joan Irish who, after putting together the Highland Games, decided the Legion needed a fund-raiser other than the summer carnival they held every year. The Legion's carnival could not compete with the Minden or Haliburton Rotary carnivals. Attendance was always emphasised on those particular carnivals.

Irish got together with another Bob Bannon, who had attended numerous Bluegrass Festivals. He suggested the festival idea, and together they assessed the possibility of having a Bluegrass Festival in Haliburton, how much money it could raise, and just how many people in the community would actually attend.

Irish and Bannon developed a proposal and presented it to a Legion committee. The idea was given a green light. The proposal included an expenditure of about $15,000 for entertainment and advertising. Gerry Irish was a part of the committee and helped present the proposal.

"We knew this could be a big thing and we wanted to get the best for the Bluegrass Festival. We always get people from the United States to come up for the weekend. They mostly come from Tennessee and, of course, Kentucky (the Bluegrass state). We received a grant from the government to help with site preparations. The first year was wonderful and the crowd was great. It's been growing ever since," said Irish.

HOW SWEET IT IS! Sometimes the sound of music can sweep a person away to another world, as this fiddler seems to have discovered as he performed at the Legion Bluegrass Festival two years ago. The dreams return this weekend at Glebe park in Haliburton.

A few years later the Legion decided to ask the Federal government for a grant to build a stage, change rooms, install hydro, improve parking, add a campsite with showers and outdoor washrooms. The grant was approved and the stage and other facilities were built.

Since then people from all over the country come to the Festival. "There are people who are Bluegrass followers. They travel from town to town attending each Bluegrass Festival and they have a great time doing it," said Irish.

This year's Bluegrass Festival will be held August 5 to 7 at Glebe Park in Haliburton (from the stop-lights in town centre, go west on Highway 118 for 2 km., then left at the end of the lake; watch for signs). The concerts run from 6:00 p.m. to 12:00 a.m. on Friday, 12:00 p.m. to 12:00 a.m. on Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Sunday. There will be on-site camping and tickets are available at the gate. Weekend rates, including camping are $40 per person, $20 for seniors and juniors (ages 12-16), and children under 12 with an adult, free. Single day passes are also available.

Coquihalla steelhead disappearing

On the Canada Day weekend, my family went to the Okanagan Valley to pick, and gorge on, cherries. We returned to Vancouver on the Coquihalla highway, the great monument built by then-premier Bill Bennett for Expo 86. Large clearcuts gash the cover of trees that have been the hallmark of "Beautiful British Columbia" all along the route. The lovely Coquihalla River that runs along the valley bottom has just been forced into acquiescence by culverts, rockfill and bulldozed trees. Just outside the town of Hope, we stopped by the river and came across a sign prohibiting fishing in an attempt to save the steelhead run. Once numbering over 1,000 fish annually, now only 100 return, the sign said.

A few days later, two news stories on CBC radio caught my attention. The first reported that the summer run of Coquihalla steelhead has now been officially declared "endangered" because fewer than 50 have returned over the past two years. The second story announced that Premier Mike Harcourt was on his way to California to try to head off a boycott of B.C. forest products by telling business people about the province's progressive new forestry policies.

The two stories illustrate our inability to grapple with the roots of the environmental dilemma.

Selective breeding by farmers over the past 10 millennia has created the impressive array of domesticated plants and animals we use today. Their utility and productivity in modern agriculture depend upon rigidly controlled environmental conditions.

In British Columbia, the great forests and runs of fish have been treated as if they are farm crops. Fast growing individuals of a species are selected and then released or replanted extensively in large numbers. Yet one of the great surprises of modern genetics research has been the discovery that individuals within a species are not

are not merely resources or economic opportunities. They are communities of living interacting creatures.*

Reflections

by David Suzuki

freely interchangeable or equivalent.

The fish and trees that are such a critical part of B.C. history and economy are wild organisms that have evolved over long periods of time in balance with the rhythms and demands of their specific surroundings. While the same species of economically important fish and trees may be found in many different watersheds and valleys, each population is genetically unique, a reflection of its evolutionary history and the specific conditions of its local habitat.

Steelhead and trees are not merely resources or economic opportunities. They are communities of living interacting creatures.

Scientists and managers know very little of the basic features of the biophysical landscape that have made these populations so abundant. It does not demean such experts to point out their ignorance when it is precisely because we understand so little of the vast and multilayered world out there that most scientists have gone into research in the first place.

The Coquihalla steelhead population is biologically unique and is on the verge of extinction. When and if it disappears, an irreplaceable record of evolution and adaptation will vanish forever. Of course, scientists can freeze cells and preserve DNA sequences of individual fish but they will never refill the hundreds of river systems with the races of steelhead or salmon which have disappeared.

The Coquihalla steelhead leave the ocean to run a gauntlet of the salmon fishing fleet and pollution in the Fraser River only to reach a spawning habitat that has been massively disrupted by road construction. That population will not be protected merely by restricting fishing at the top end of the run.

The same simplistic approach to complex biological populations and unwillingness to regulate the totality of human depredation has created havoc in the Atlantic ground fishery.

It is true, Harcourt's forest policies represent an improvement over the legacy of his predecessors, but that wasn't hard. For decades the forest industry defended the escalating volume of trees cut while denying the accusations of critics that it was not sustainable. Now the industry and government admit the criticisms were valid but claim to have turned over a new leaf and changed their ways.

However, decades of irresponsible stewardship and overharvesting cannot be overcome merely by admitting it and invoking the rhetoric of responsible stewardship.

Harcourt, like most politicians, does not understand what ecological carrying capacity really means, nor the dependence of the economy on the health of the environment. He would be more credible if he recognized that nature cannot be forced to conform to human demands; we know too little to manage populations of wild organisms; and the fate of any population — human or non human — is inextricably linked to other organisms and the physical state of air, water and soil.

Now that would be a great reason to celebrate Canada Day.

Burton band leads star-studded line-up

Tribute, featuring the Keith Burton Show, will be presented by the Laxton, Digby and Longford Recreation Committee at the Norland Recreation Centre on August 13.

The four-hour show will be a repeat of last year's event, which proved popular.

Keith Burton, his sister Connie Burton and Carolyn Plettell do a variety of impersonations, ranging from Willie Nelson, Dolly Parton and Patsy Cline to Whitney Houston, Linda Ronstadt and Michael Jackson.

Fay Brown, one of the organizers of the show, says that a limited number of tickets are still available on a first come, first served basis. Tickets are available over the counter at the Municipal office in Norland or by calling Brown at 454-3418 to reserve.

The show was a sell-out last year.

Kinmount Model Railway

The Kinmount Railroad Club's mandate is to design and construct a model railroad depicting Kinmount to Haliburton, circa 1900 to 1925. The model is to be on display at the Pioneer Society's Exhibit during the Kinmount Fair on Labour Day weekend. The goal is to complete the section from Kinmount to Gellert this year and the remainder in 1995.

Kinmount Lions have taken on sponsorship of the model and are now in the process of launching a fund-raising project to cover costs. The club is planning to sell sponsor plaques at $25 each. The Kinmount Fair Board has already started the ball rolling purchasing the first plaque. Plaques will be displayed along the model.

OPEN HOUSE:

Sat., Aug. 6 - 2 - 4 p.m. and Sun., Aug. 7 - 2 - 4 p.m. at the Heritage House, Kinmount Fairgrounds.

Life membership a reward for service

Service Clubs

by Cub Coneybear for Legion Branch 636

A question was recently asked concerning the granting of life membership to Legion members. The general criteria are outlined for your information.

Contrary to the practice in many other service clubs or fraternal organizations, life membership is not awarded to a person who has paid Legion dues for a specific number of years. That fact is recognized by the issuing of the Service Lapel Badges showing the number of years of continuous service in five year increments, and culminating with the awarding of the Long Service Medal at the 50 year level.

Any Ordinary or Associate-voting member may be admitted to life membership, upon being nominated by the member's Branch and approved by the Provincial Command. Payment of dominion and provincial per capita tax is made by the board according to a scale based on the age of the nominee. For example, for a person between 60 and 64 years of age, 10 years per capita tax must be paid.

Bearing in mind that in granting life membership, the branch is bestowing a great honour on a member and it considers the expenditure involved are warranted in order to honour that member. Consequently, consideration should be given to the granting of life membership to those who have given long and faithful service which is rated as being above that given by others. In effect, it is a "reward" for outstanding service and devotion to the purposes and objects of the Legion. Since it can be awarded after a minimum of 10 years of continual service, you can understand that the service must be above the normal demands of membership.

The following is a list of the new Ladies Auxiliary Officers and Executive:

President — Shelia Burke
First Vice and Membership — Corrine Arsenault
Secretary — Georgina Parkes
Treasurer — Shirley Kirk
Sports — Bev Johnson
Sergeant at Arms — Molly McKenzie
Kitchen — Bernice Gilles and Elaine Davison
Sick and Visiting — Muriel Harrington
Ways and Means — Hazel Austin, Marg Coulter and Josie Cheeseman

The following was written from the Ways and Means Committee:

Saturdays we are having free dancing to a great disc jockey starting at eight p.m. until ???

Saturdays we have fun meat. There is a draw at noon and there will be steaks and back ribs and more.

In September we (the branch and the Ladies Auxiliary) are having a draw for two tickets to see the fabulous Showboat review. Including two nights in the Best Western Roehampton Hotel in Toronto. A $50.00 meal voucher and free breakfasts. In September we are going to Las Vegas again. Contact the writer for details. Thanks a lot. Cub Coneybear.

Public surrenders weapons during firearms amnesty

Figures released by the Chief Provincial Firearms Office, located at Ontario Provincial Police Headquarters, reveal that citizens are continuing to direct a steady flow of handguns and longarms to police agencies across the province.

In the eighth week of the 13 week Ontario amnesty program which began June 1, 1994, 59 pistols and revolvers, 42 shotguns, 103 rifles were surrendered.

Here are the totals to Saturday, July 23, 1994: 542 handguns; 76 military assault-type weapons; 387 shotguns; 777 non-restricted rifles; 288 "near firearms", consisting of pellet guns, BB guns, starter pistols and replica firearms; 412 explosive devices, consisting of sticks of dynamite and pieces of military ordinance; 79,914 bullets and shotgun shells; and 135 non-firearm weapons, such as crossbows, machetes, mace and martial arts devices.

Any police service will accept weapons and explosives, no questions asked, until August 31, 1994. A person should contact police prior to moving explosives.

Editor's note: the above statistics include totals from all OPP detachments and all non-OPP police services in Ontario.

Supervision is essential to water safety

The Royal Life Saving Society is urging parents and caregivers to supervise their children at all times in and near water in the wake of several drownings in Ontario in the last month.

In one recent case, two brothers drowned in an irrigation pond on their family farm in Langton, Ontario. In another, a Barrie toddler drowned in the family backyard pool. In both cases, the children were unsupervised.

"Supervising children in bathtubs, pools or at the cottage is a full-time job. Parents have to think and act like life-guards and that means being on duty at all times," says Ed Bean, director of public education for the RLSSC in Ontario.

"Whenever your children are near the water, you should be near your children. And 'near' means within arm's reach. We all know how fast tragedy can strike. Just a momentary lapse in supervision can lead to death because the drowning process can take as little as ten seconds."

"Supervision is a responsibility that must be taken seriously. Drowning is the third leading cause of accidental death in Ontario. Our message is as urgent as ever." Only automobile crashes and accidental falls account for more accidental deaths, Bean says.

For the first time ever, the water-related accidental death rate among children under the age of five is the highest of all age groups, the RLSSC recently reported. In Ontario in 1992, 21 children under five years of age drowned, compared with 19 in 1991. Most children in this group were unsupervised and half of them died in backyard pools or in bathtubs. There were a total of 174 drownings among all age groups in Ontario in 1992 the latest year for which statistics are available.

Parents and caregivers can take a number of measures to reduce the risk of drowning, Bean says. They are:

- Stay within arm's reach. Direct adult supervision is essential for young children whenever they are in or near water.

- Increase the number of protective barriers around a pool. Install a child-proof lock on the door opening onto the pool. Ensure the pool gate is equipped with a self-closing latch and a lock.

- If possible, place a cordless telephone at poolside.
- Insist children wear a life jacket at all times in a boat.
- Enroll children in swimming and lifesaving courses.
- Learn CPR.

The Society has reported annually on Ontario water-related accidents and deaths since 1988. The reports are based on data from the Chief Coroner's Office.

The Royal Canadian Life Saving Society is a national, charitable organization working to prevent drowning and water-related injuries through lifeguard training, water safety education, research and advocacy. Last year in Ontario the Society certified more than 90,000 people in lifesaving and lifeguard courses.

Residents enjoy picnic in the park

by Winnifred Barnum

Hi again folks. Welcome to visitors in our area this summer.

We have had a busy summer so far. Saturday, July 16, Hyland Crest held a flea market in the auditorium. Right from the start they had a big crowd and were very busy. They raised $1,201.

Sunday, Estelle Burch came to read to us and at last we finished the book. We hope to get one as good for future reading. Thanks a lot Estelle.

In the evening John Burgess conducted the Sunday evening chapel service and Marion Fischer accompanied with the singing. In the afternoon a movie, Mrs. Doubtfire, was shown in the Primrose Lounge.

Tuesday morning chapel service was conducted by Annette Bath and Jean Cox played the organ. We heartily thank both ladies. Soon after lunch Linda had the bus loaded with residents from special care and they went for a short ride to enjoy the fresh air and scenery. This is done each Tuesday. While the bus was away, Dottie and Donna had crafts in the craft room. In the evening Corinne and Pearl helped a few residents play several hands of euchre.

Wednesday we had a delightful picnic at Rotary Park. We were met there by the Extensicare residents. The buses were driven up to the pavillion and we made a large circle under a huge tree. Everyone had a spot in the shade. The weather

by Winnifred Barnum

was just right for a picnic. Both groups brought a delicious lunch which we shared. The staff and volunteers passed the lunch around. There was an abundance of food. Everyone ate heartily and enjoyed themselves. Mrs. Clarke did some of her great acts and we thank her. When we finished lunch we packed up the remains and boarded the buses for Kawartha Dairy for ice cream, which was donated by Donna Wallace. The residents sincerely thank you Donna. They also thank the volunteers who aided the staff caring for all the residents.

Wednesday night Everett Fairey and Ted Robinson entertained us with all their instruments and songs. We welcome them anytime. Thanks fellows.

Thursday the shuffleboard club came and put on a tea party for us. The lunch was delicious and the members were Ruth Flatt, Eleanor Smith, Ruth Bishop, Shirley Elcombe, Kathleen Cannon, Dorothy Boyd, Marion Ingram, Pearl Cowan and Sandra Patenaude. Thank you ladies for the wonderful tea.

Thursday evening we played Bingo in the dining room. Leeanne Schlosser called for us. Thank you Leeanne.

Friday afternoon happy hour was a booming success. Jean Lepine and Kay Stephens entertained us with music and song. We appreciated their entertainment. The volunteers were Dottie Muirhead and Don and Ellen Holden. Charlie Welch had a birthday July 17 -- congratulations Charlie.

AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE MEMBERS OF COUNCIL, INHABITANTS AND RATEPAYERS OF THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF STANHOPE

We have examined the consolidated financial statements of the Corporation of the Township of Stanhope for the year ended December 31, 1993 from which the accompanying summary financial statements have been prepared. We have reported on the consolidated financial statements without qualification on April 6, 1994.

In our opinion, the accompanying summary financial statements fairly summarize the information contained in the consolidated financial statements upon which we have reported.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

First call this week was from Mary (Little) Goldsmith who informed me that Hilda Harrison is now in Oshawa General Hospital, Room 8103, 24 Alma Street and no doubt would like to have a visit if you happen to be down that way.

All good wishes to the birthday people at Hyland Crest for August. Mary Busby August 13, Irene McKelvey also August 13, Vera Archer August 25, Nora Groves August 28 and Stuart Harrison on August 14. Many happy returns to you all.

Jean McKelvey and Audrey Trumbull held a picnic dinner on the lawn at Jean's home on July 20. Relatives who attended included Mr and Mrs Bill McKelvey and Delmar McKelvey of Toronto, their sister Shirley and husband Jim Harvey and his mother Mrs. Harvey and family including Mr and Mrs Allan Lytle and Steven and Ashley, Mr and Mrs Stewart Harvey and son Andrew, Shirley and Jim's little granddaughter Becky. Also joining them were Janet Milburn and son Derick and Bradley Trumbull. Before everyone left, Betty and Alfred Milburn and Kirk Taylor arrived. The guests stayed at Hart Lodge on Highway 35 and everyone had a wonderful time.

A small crowd at the Monday afternoon euchre games at St. Paul's on July 25, when winners included Marie Dennie with most lone hands, Marg McAfee, K.T. Parker and Nancy Gayton with Pearl C. taking the draw. Please note the next games there will be August 8 at 1:30 p.m. with everyone welcome.

Visiting relatives in Minden and Haliburton recently were Jim, Nancy and James Ackerblade from Brampton.

Recent guests with Beulah Hewitt were Pennay and Moyer Hewitt from Tottenham who also visited other friends in the area.

Nellie King attended her grandson's wedding in Maple last weekend.

Visitors recently with Florence Robinson included Bradley, Maggie and Donna of Toronto and the Jack Shaw family called as well.

Winners at Club 35 euchre games on July 25 included, for most lone hands, Mario Farr while Edith Russell and Bob Lewis took the high scores. The 50/50 draw went to Helen Lee and other winners were Jeanne Penick, Harold Smith and Mary Schad. Next wheels to meals dinner is August 2.

The Wear Family of Halls Lake was happy to entertain Philip, Zoe, Laura and Colin Gummer of Kent England, Ivan Goldie and Michael Krlin of Stoney Creek and Mr. Jason Horton of Brantford.

Murray Wruth took the train to Thunder Bay recently where he met Arlene and Adam McLellan who were motoring home from Alberta. Charlie will fly in on the holiday weekend then they will all go on to Nova Scotia for a visit with his family.

Fay McLean of Lindsay recently called on her aunts Bessie Burk and Margaret Burk and also visited with Betty and Gerald Hicks.

Winners on July 28 at

R.C.L. 636 Minden euchre games included Marie Dennie and Harry Stewart with most lone hands, Olva Irving and Tod Edgson with the highs and Helen Skelding, Ron Irving, Ellen Cole, L. Lee, Al Cooper, Marie Dennie and Marg McAfee.

Holiday time is a busy one for Ruth and Allan Rice who have grandchildren Eaton Heaton and Kirsten Wells visiting with them.

Some of my neighbours have been awakened from sleep (if they had reached that point) with cars racing and squealing tires long after midnight. Guess I sleep very soundly but it's too bad the young folk can't find a better and safer place for their "Hot Wheels" than Parkside and Prentice Street area.

Sincere sympathy to the family and friends of the late June Bannon, Jane Dettman, Frank M. Cowan and William Thayer whose funerals were last week.

Stanhope bridge club winners for July 26 included Dorothy Stype, Jack Croucher and Marion Day. These games are held every week at 1 p.m. and everyone is welcome to attend.

Some people you might like to remember with a card or a visit are Sylvia Howard, Allan Rogers, Walter Austen, Hugh Alton Jr., and Mary Eaton.

Weekly bid euchre game winners for July 28 were: Moonshots Grenville Griffin, Jim Foster, Ruth Gregory, Jean Hewitt, Dorothy Walters, Ken Clement and Lottie Ruttan. Winners included May Sinclair, Lottie Ruttan, Jean Randall, Grenville Griffin, Don Sinclair, Harry Stuart and George Hewitt. Everyone is welcome to attend these games starting at 7 p.m. every Wednesday evening.

Rotary Club of Minden hosted the Summer Carnival with a large crowd attending. There was something for everyone, outside rides, games and entertainment inside. Well done Rotarians.

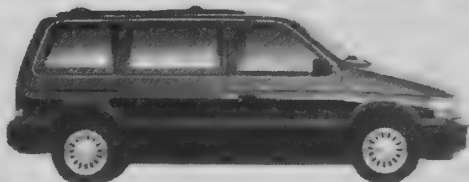

Please note the Minden Women's Institute Bake Sale will be held August 5 on Main Street, around 10 a.m. A good way to stay out of your kitchen!

CARDS OF THANKS

I should like to thank all my family and friends for taking care of my children and my house and to my husband Dave for keeping things under control while I was having my surgery in Peterborough Civic Hospital. I would also like to thank Dr. Sheppard and all the staff on Four West during my stay. Also thanks to everyone who sent flowers, made phone calls, cards and visits. Thanks again.
Shirley Hulbig.

I would like to extend my heartfelt thanks to my many friends for their prayers, cards, flowers and visits during my stay in hospital and here at home. A special thanks to Joy, John, Tom and Deb for the T.L.C. Love ya!
Iris "T".

Thanks to everyone in and around Minden and Haliburton who willingly provided donations for the Stanhope Fun Day when approached by members of the committee.
Myrna McCarthy.

CARDS OF THANKS

Many thanks to everyone for their thoughtfulness while I was a patient in Mount Sinai and St. Bernard's Hospital, Toronto and since my return home. St. Paul's for prayers, to those for gifts, cards, phone calls, visitation and transportation. It meant so much. Thank you all.
Fred Cooper.

Kids, happy as could be to see Basil McRae, St. Louis Blues on Fun Day '94. Brent Grieves, Chicago Blackhawks - It was a real treat, really neat - thanks again. Hope to see you both on Fun Day '95. To volunteers both young and older who gave their best - the crowds who came and all the rest. Thank you.
Myrna.

To all who so generously donated their time and talent toward the Art and Craft Auction, we would like to express, on behalf of the residents of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home, our sincere appreciation. 8A

AT REST

HENDERSON,
Harry Vernon

At Haliburton Hospital on Thursday, July 28, 1994. Beloved husband of Loretta Coneybeare of Haliburton. Fondly remembered by his grandchildren, Darryl, Randy, Kim, Cheryl, Michael, Mike, Jay, Kathryn, Nicole and Jennifer and great-grandchildren Stephanie, Matthew, Justin, Rachel, Katelyn, Kevin, Julie and Kieran. Dear brother of Phoebe (Mrs. Everett Paul) of West Guilford. Predeceased by brothers Jack and Cliff and sisters Emily, Sadie, Beatrice and Gertrude. Friends called at the HALIBURTON COMMUNITY FUNERAL HOME, Hwy #118, Haliburton (705) 457-9209 on Friday, July 29. Funeral services were held in the chapel on Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. Interment Evergreen Cemetery, Haliburton. As expressions of sympathy, donations to the Haliburton Hospital would be appreciated by the family.

"Loved always...and never forgotten."

AT REST

BANNON,
June E.

Suddenly at Wellesley Hospital, Toronto on Monday, July 25, 1994, in her 75th year. Beloved wife of Ken Bannon. Dear mother of Ron and his wife Nina and Terry. Loving grandmother of Jeanne, Jason and Scott, great-grandmother of Nina. Dear sister of Eileen Barry, Iris Abbs, Fern Loke, Yvonne Penney, Ken Harrison and sister-in-law of Claire Harrison. Mrs. Bannon rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, 127 Main Street Minden on Wednesday and the funeral service was held in the chapel on Thursday, July 28, 1994 at 1 p.m. Interment Maple Lake United Church Cemetery. Memorial donations to the charity of your choice would be appreciated by the family.

DETTMAN,
Jane A.

Peacefully at Princess Margaret Hospital, Toronto on Wednesday, July 27, 1994 in her 60th year. Beloved wife of the late Claude A. Dettman. Dear mother of Susan of Fort Simpson, N.W.T., Carrie and her husband Joe Rucska of Ajax and Jennifer of Ajax. Dear niece of Claire Nash. Mrs. Dettman rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, 127 Main Street, Minden on Friday. Funeral services were held in the chapel on Saturday, July 30, 1994 at 11 a.m. Interment Kinmount Cemetery. Memorial donations to the Canadian Cancer Society or to the Kinmount United Church would be appreciated by the family.

IN MEMORIAM

THOMAS, Madeline - In loving memory of a dear friend who passed away July 18, 1990. In the book of life there are memories
Of the happy days we knew,
And recorded in love are the blessings,
Of a wonderful friend like you.
Sadly missed by Nell.
